

Want It, Create It

The New Foamposites Scenario

Your best friend asked you what you are doing this weekend; you won't be able to see your friend in the coming weeks because you are working extra hours, and in 2 weeks, you will go on a trip to DC with the Boys and Girls Club for a conference. You have to pay for any extra food on the trip. Your parents expect you to pay this expense since the trip is optional. Also, your family no longer gives you money for clothes and shoes since you got a job.

You just got paid! You've been eyeing these new Foamposites online and they are available in stores. You have a budget setup, but there is not much money available for any extras. Your friend doesn't usually chip in on gas, and you know that you'll probably buy lunch there because it is in the middle of the day.

Questions

1. Will you go to the mall with your friend? What impacted your decision?

2. If you go to the mall, how will you handle eating lunch?

3. Will you buy the New Foamposites? Explain why you made this choice.

4. What impact if any will your choices have on your trip to D.C.?

5. How did you use the 14 general money principles and the 12 easy ways to spend less money tips? Mention the tips and principles that apply to your decision-making.